

I used the approach of Weight of Evidence to predict the customers interested. Advantages of using WOE is that it also helps fill the missing values in the data.

After calculating appropriate number of bins for each column I replaced them with WOE values in both train and test. Because of limited computing power I could only test RF model using various hyperparameters.